

Habitat of the month

Coasts: When all is quiet inland you can be sure of plenty of activity on the seashore. Seaweeds grow all year and marine snails don't hibernate so now is a good time to head to the coast and look in rock-pools around Britain.

Coastal scenes: The days are short but dramatic scenes are waiting for the hardy. Try using a wide-angle lens to take in the big picture. A polarising filter can make the scene come to life by increasing contrast and picking out cloud formations.
